

Outline of the route

This walk follows a linear route through woods and fields. It starts* by Webster Lane Farm, where there's roadside parking (access via a cattle grid or PG from the bypass).

*It can also be easily walked to from the village via Webster Lane.

To start, walk towards Tunstall Woods down a poolside track, and upon entering them keep to the track down their left hand side—the woods are private property.

At the end of the first block of woodland the track curves left, then right and comes to an end by a field on the right. However the path continues and it is in this area, where the woodland becomes a bit more mixed/open, that you can see, usually in May, a good display of natural Bluebells, as well as other Woodland Flowers.

At point 'A' on the map you can return the way you came or walk on towards Tunstall Farm.

To continue, cross a ST and, keeping woodland on your left, walk down the field. Where the woodland ends continue walking downhill, passing 2 electricity poles on your left (located in the next field), to reach the bottom of the field, then look for a BR over a small stream.

Cross this BR and a FG on the other side to gain access to a pretty grazing meadow. Walk diagonally left across this meadow towards an oak tree by Tunstall Farm. The path then turns right, past the rear of farm buildings, to officially end* by a FG joining the farm's driveway.

* Important: There is no right of access beyond this point, so you now need to return the way you came.
